

Child Support Enforcement

Child Support Guidelines Fact Sheet – Proposed 2006 Changes August 1, 2006

The amount of child support a person is required to pay in North Dakota is set by a court according to child support guidelines. The guidelines are adopted by the Department of Human Services through administrative rule. State and federal law require the Department of Human Services to review the guidelines every four years to ensure that the application of the guidelines results in appropriate child support amounts being ordered by the court.

As part of the review process, the Department recently convened a drafting advisory committee. The members of the committee included two legislators, a district court judge, a tribal court judge, an attorney in private practice, a parent who receives child support, and a parent who pays child support.

Based on the recommendations of the advisory committee, the Department is proposing several changes to the child support guidelines. The proposed changes are summarized below, and can be found on the Department's website at <http://www.nd.gov/humanservices/services/childsupport/docs/proposedamendments2006.pdf>. The guidelines have already been reviewed at several four-year intervals since they were adopted. As a result, the proposed changes include several clarifications and comparatively few substantive changes. Several proposed changes are prompted by judicial interpretations of the current guidelines. A number of significant areas of the guidelines have been left unchanged, and those areas are also listed below.

A public hearing will be held on the proposed changes in mid-November or early December. If you would like to request notice of the date, time, and location of the public hearing, or if you would like to provide written comments on the proposed rules, please send the request or comments to: Rules Administrator, North Dakota Department of Human Services, State Capitol – Judicial Wing, 600 E. Boulevard Ave., Dept. 325, Bismarck, ND 58505-0250.

Summary of Proposed Changes

Substantive Changes

- Imputation of income – N.D. Admin. Code § 75-02-04.1-07.
 - Replace “prevailing amounts earned in the community” standard for imputation (defined as employment within 100 miles of the obligor’s residence) with a “statewide average earnings” standard for persons with similar work history and occupational qualifications.

- Replace the “look-back” period for imputing wages based on an obligor’s greatest monthly earnings in any twelve consecutive month period from thirty-six months to twenty-four months.
 - Define “voluntary change in employment,” for imputing income to an obligor at one hundred percent of the obligor’s greatest average monthly earnings in any twelve consecutive months, as a change made in bad faith, i.e., “a change made for purposes of reducing the obligor’s child support obligation.” An obligor whose income has been reduced as a result of a change in employment has the burden of proving that the change was not made to reduce the obligor’s child support obligation.
 - Imputation of income to an obligor who is a minor (or under age 19 and still attending high school) is based on a twenty-hour work week, rather than a forty-hour work week.
 - Income is not required to be imputed to an uncooperative obligor at a rate of ten percent increase per year if reliable information regarding the obligor’s income can be reasonably obtained from sources other than the obligor.
- Extrapolation of future income based on recent past events less than twelve months in duration is confirmed as an appropriate method of determining an obligor’s gross income under the guidelines. N.D. Admin. Code § 75-02-04.1-02(8). Compare Korynta v. Korynta, 2006 ND 17; Logan v. Bush, 2000 ND 203.
 - An offset of obligations in a split custody or equal physical custody case is suspended during any months when a child for whom the obligation was determined is on public assistance and the right to support has been assigned to the State. This change reiterates that an offset in a split custody or equal physical custody case is a method of payment only and does not reduce the child support obligation of each parent or the amount of support that may be assigned to the State. N.D. Admin. Code §§ 75-02-04.1-03, 75-02-04.1-08.2. Compare Simon v. Simon, 2006 ND 29.
 - The deduction from gross income for lodging expenses incurred when engaged in travel required as a condition of employment has been increased from thirty dollars per night to fifty dollars per night. N.D. Admin. Code § 75-02-04.1-01(7).
 - Subsidized adoption payments are excluded from an obligor’s gross income as a form of public assistance benefits. N.D. Admin. Code § 75-02-04.1-01.

Clarifications

- Actual earnings for purposes of imputing income to an obligor includes in-kind income. N.D. Admin. Code § 75-02-04.1-07(1).

- Fluctuation of income provisions apply to cases with employed obligors whose wages are subject to fluctuation, as well as self-employment cases. N.D. Admin. Code § 75-02-04.1-02(7).
- Income from self-employment under the guidelines is an example of gross income, and should be reduced by any appropriate deductions to determine an obligor's net income. N.D. Admin. Code § 75-02-04.1-05.
- Imputed income under the guidelines is an example of gross income, and should be reduced by any appropriate deductions to determine an obligor's net income. Compare Kobs v. Jacobson, 2005 ND 222. N.D. Admin. Code § 75-02-04.1-07.

Areas where No Changes are Proposed

- Self-employment (except for the clarification noted above regarding deductions from gross income)
- Foster Care
- Extended Visitation
- Multiple-family calculations
- Imputation to incarcerated obligors
- Criteria for rebuttal of the guideline amounts of support
- The schedule of child support amounts

Technical Changes

- Two incorrect words in N.D. Admin. Code § 75-02-04.1-13 are corrected.
